1,000 jobs go as Tesco depot shuts

Staff told yesterday that distribution will move out of the city

BY KIRSTEN RAWLINS

kirsten.rawlins@mk-news.co.uk

NEARLY 1,000 workers could lose their jobs after a supermarket giant announced it will be closing its city depot.

Yesterday, Tesco told its 764 employees its National Distribution Centre at Fenny Lock will shut later this year.

There are also the 111 drivers transferred to Eddie Stobart still working at the site, as well as about 100 agency cleaning, catering and security staff.

A warehouse operative at the site, who would not be named for fear of a backlash, said: "We were given letters at 1pm telling us the site would be closing. I've been here for 13 years. A lot of people will be out of a job - a lot of young people with families to support."

Tesco is opening a new depot at the Daventry International Rail Freight Terminal, which will be 60 per cent bigger than Fenny Lock and allow more products to be transported by rail. The company claims all its staff will be offered work at the new depot - about 30 miles away.

Joanne McGuiness, national officer for workers union USDAW, said: "This is absolutely devastating news for our members, their families and the economy of Milton Keynes.

"There are entire families affected by this decision. It really couldn't have come at a worse time. Consultations with Tesco will start this week."

As reported in last week's MK NEWS, 87 of the drivers handed over to Eddie Stobart in December were put under threat of redundancy last month.

A driver, who did not want to be named, said: "I think giving the drivers redundancy notice was a prelude to closing the site. Once they've got rid of the drivers, it won't take long to move out the rest. I think a lot of us were expecting it."

Rita Spada, chairman of the MK Chamber of Commerce, said it is 'extremely disappointing' that the city is losing the depot and Milton Keynes Council has vowed to help those affected.

Councillor Jenni Farrans, responsible for community strategy and regeneration, said: "We are glad to see Tesco is making good provisions to relocate its workers, but there are other employees left which the council and its partners will be assisting in finding employment."

Tesco is planning to phase out activity at the site from June with the depot closing sometime between August and September.

Juliette Bishop, Tesco corporate affairs manager, said: "The site at Fenny Lock is now more than 20 years old and can no longer provide the space needed to hold the range and volume of products needed to supply our stores for the future.

"This new modern facility will allow us to greatly enhance the service to our stores and customers across the country."

More than 500 competitors took part in this week's 43rd annual Festival of Arts, with dancers of all styles from ballet to modern competing at the Ridgeway Centre, Wolverton.
The festival, which will end on March 20, includes a two-day music event at Thornton College and a drama festival at the Madcap Theatre, Wolverton.

Woman denies torching death house

Barbara Zhanje being wheeled into MK Magistrates' Court

BY ADAM GRINSELL

adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

FIREFIGHTERS declared a burning house was empty before finding the bodies of a mother and her daughter the next day.

A search of the house in Fishermead Boulevard, in which Bola Ejifunmilayo and her three-year-old daughter Fiyin died on September 5, was conducted by fire crews as they believed a woman and child were unaccounted for, but one team was beaten back by the flames.

A second crew managed to get upstairs but the landing collapsed, injuring one fireman.

At 2.46am the team retreated and at 4.24am the fire service log records the message 'all persons accounted for'.

It wasn't until the following day that the bodies were discovered.

The information emerged as the trial of Zimbabwean Barbara Zhanje, 48, who has pleaded not guilty to two counts of manslaughter and one of arson being reckless as to whether anyone's life would be endangered, started yesterday at St Albans Crown Court. Miss Zhanje, of Mill Road, Kettering, is accused of starting the fire at the house where her former boyfriend, Ananias Jumbe, also lived.

Prosecutor Ann Evans said: "She was observed to be hammering on the door to his room and as the fire took light, another occupant saw her leaving the scene of the crime."

Mrs Evans said at 1.45am one of the other people in the house was woken by the smell of smoke and saw flames coming up the stairs from the first floor where Jumbe lived and dialled 999.

She said Miss Ejifunmilayo, who had lived on the second floor with her daughter for less than a month, made a 'distressing 999 call saying she was with her daughter and could not breath'.

She added: "The second crew were unable to thoroughly search the back room where Bola and her daughter lay and the team retreated. Erroneously they reached the conclusion that the property was now empty and the fire service log records the message 'all persons accounted for'."

The prosecution alleged the fire was started by Miss Zhanje who was angry her relationship with Mr Jumbe was over.

Mr Jumbe, giving evidence, told the jury that five years before she had set fire to his clothes and added their relationship was not good, especially when she was drunk. The case continues.

City couple's guess led to winning a diamond ring

ONE lucky couple have won a diamond engagement ring.

City shopper Philip Jeffrey and his partner correctly guessed the time it would take an ice sculpture celebrating St Valentine's Day at thecentre:mk to melt and release the ring.

He said: "We are so thrilled to have guessed accurately and win the ring, it's such a fantastic way to start the new year.

"The competition was so imaginative and we thought the sculpture was beautiful in Queen's Court.

"We never imagined we might actually win it."

Melanie Beck, head of marketing and communication at thecentre:mk, said: "The success of the event was overwhelming, we were so thrilled with the presence of the ice sculpture in Queen's Court.

"Our guests at thecentre:mk were so intrigued to watch the live ice carving and then to go outside to see it in the evening as it was all lit up."

The sculpture completely melted on Sunday.

Bletchley 'beef' in Olympics

A CITY sportsman will join the UK's first handball team to compete in the Olympics.

Bobby White, of Bletchley, began playing handball when he was recruited from Newport Pagnell FC through the Sporting Giant Talent Identification Programme.

He said: "The programme was designed to take athletes from other sports to help beef-up the handball team. The sport doesn't really have much support in this country."

Bobby and six others were asked to move to Denmark for training and he soon received an offer to play for the Greek handball team, which he accepted. However a hip injury forced him to move back home for an operation.

He is expecting to be able to start retraining with the UK Olympic team by May.

Bobby added: "It would be absolutely incredible to win a medal, but we are just aiming for a top eight finish."

He spoke about his experiences at the Midsummer Breakfast Club on Thursday.

MEANWHILE, MK College is one of 70 institutions across the country running courses to train security staff for the London 2012 Olympics from April 11. Trainees will be guaranteed a job interview.

Dogfighting fears after body found

CONCERNS about dogfighting are growing after a dog's body was found with fighting injuries.

The carcase of what is believed to be a pit bull terrier, a breed banned in the UK under the Dangerous Dog Act, was found wrapped in a duvet and covered in blood in Sherington Road, Newport Pagnell, on Sunday, February 13.

RSPCA inspector Sue Haywood believes the wounds are consistent with it being in a fight.

She said: "The dog also had old scars to its body, which leads us to believe that it had been involved in other fights prior to its death.

"It is just really sad to think that it has been used in such a cruel way, and would have suffered an agonising amount of pain."

She added she would like to hear from anyone who has heard of any dogfighting-related incidents in the area. She is also appealing for anyone who recognises the description of the dog – which was a brindle with a white muzzle, neck and chest and wearing a black leather collar with a brass buckle and silver studs on it – to get in touch.

Those found guilty of causing unnecessary suffering to an animal could face a maximum six-month prison sentence and/or a £20,000 fine. Anyone with information should call 0300 1234 999.

Libya escapee in fear for his life

Two Mile Ash engineer robbed at knifepoint

BY ADAM GRINSELL

adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

Paul and Stephanie Ellis: The electrical engineer was robbed of all his possessions by armed men who raided his work camp

AN ELECTRICAL engineer who escaped the troubles in Libya was in fear for his life and prayed someone would rescue him.

Paul Ellis, 51, was working in a camp outside the African country's second city Benghazi when the troubles started.

He described how, as gunfire rang out at night, work carried on as normal for several days and he and his colleagues believed everything would settle down.

But then one evening his camp was raided by men with knives and machetes and he was robbed of all his possessions.

Mr Ellis, from Two Mile Ash, said: "We heard there would be a bit of a demonstration and that's all we knew. I suppose we were rather naive, we thought we were okay, that it would calm down in a few days and we were relatively safe in the camp.

"But then they raided the camp. They kicked some doors in, but we opened them first to try and pacify them.

"They wanted car keys, took laptops, mobiles, cash, just whatever we had. We went to another villa and people were constantly banging on the door, trying to kick it down, but the lady who lived there was a white woman and they kept going away because they respected her.

"We were in fear of our lives - you didn't know what was going to happen next."

The workers were then transferred to a hotel where they had a four-day wait before they could get out of the country on the warship HMS Cumbria

He added: "All we got was what was on the television. We just waited and prayed that somone would get us out."

His wife Stephanie said she went through hell on earth, as she could not contact him for over a week to find out what was happening.

She said: "The worst thing was not knowing what was going on. First he was on a Turkish boat, then no boat at all, then he disappeared – it was very tough.

"Nobody confirmed he was on that Navy ship, and the first news I had was when he text me from Malta."

Police hunt beauty salon flasher

A FLASHER who exposed himself outside a beauty salon in Bletchley is being hunted by police.

The man, who is around 60 years old, exposed himself to a woman who was inside the beauty therapy salon in Queensway at 3.30pm on Thursday, February 17.

He had grey hair and a grey beard, was 5ft 6in and was overweight. He was wearing a red sports top with a jacket over the top, which was unzipped, and white nylon sports shorts.

Police are appealing for witnesses or anyone with information to call 0845 8 505 505. Anyone who doesn't want to speak to police or leave their name, can call the charity Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Common sense could see fewer council cuts

SIR – I attended Tuesday night's budget meeting in the Civic Offices in Milton Keynes and it is obvious that the council's finances are, to say the least, in a parlous and deplorable state.

For more than a year, I and others have been trying to discourage the council from spending a massive £1.8million on a gypsy/travellers site in the wood in Simpson Road.

There does not appear to be a need for this, and if there was a need, it could be put on flat land far less expensively than in a wood, where trees need to be felled and the ground needs levelling and draining, etc.

I am left wondering what the hidden agenda is in all this.

It is at a time when the council wants to cut back on nurseries – how will the parents be able to work?

A blind gentleman was asking for a library attendant to be available for him and a small group for one hour a month. The council said this could not be achieved, why not?

What about the bussing of people to bed and breakfasts in other boroughs?

It is manifestly clear that these cutbacks do not need to be made if only the council used some common sense.

Sadly a rare commodity in Milton Keynes Council.

Sylvia Ellwood
Simpson

Jobs for the boys

SIR – Today I had to check my calendar as I thought it might be April 1.

On the day your paper announced the range of cuts that are to be forced on the taxpayers of Milton Keynes (MK NEWS, February 23), I read that Milton Keynes Council is to set up a new health watchdog to oversee the GPs if and when they take over the purse strings of the NHS.

Still, I suppose employment will have to be found for the council staff that will be made redundant when the cuts take effect.

Mr W Grist
Portchester Court, MK

Embarrassed by chief

SIR – I was disgusted to see David Hill, the chief executive of Milton Keynes Council, on ITV news talking about how his salary was totally justified and to quote him, he 'is worth it'.

He seems to think that being paid so much is justified as the council has a large turnover, but it is not a commercial company and therefore should not be compared to one in any way.

I was so embarrassed to be a resident of Milton Keynes when I saw this aired on national news. It left me with nothing but anger towards a council that should be representing a shining example of a modern and forward-thinking city.

I love MK, but to see the chief executive of the council that I pay tax to each month act in such a manner was stomach turning.

Anya Rolsken
Sent by e-mail

■ For more on this and the budget cuts at Milton Keynes Council, turn to pages 10 and 11.

Yes to Bletchley CCTV

SIR – I am writing to comment on whether or not CCTV should be installed in the Whalley Drive and Whaddon Way areas of Bletchley (MK NEWS, February 23).

I think that it should be. Motorists seem to race along these roads at suicidal speeds. A top speed of 20mph may also slow them down.

One has to wonder why these motorists choose to drive so fast. I wonder what they'll be doing with the small amount of time that they'll be saving.

CCTV may also help to deter people from damaging the bus shelters as well.

Also, it would be nice if we could think of Milton Keynes as a very pleasant, large town and not a city (MK NEWS, February 23). We're only a small island and have too many cities already.

Name and address supplied

Secklow Gate Bridge

SIR – This is a copy of a letter sent to Councillor Vanessa McPake, cabinet member for transport at Milton Keynes Council.

'I am concerned that a year has gone by and Secklow Gate Bridge has still not been repaired and reinstated for traffic use and that market trading has not been fully restored below the bridge.

Both are essential and valued functions in the daily life of Central Milton Keynes and the wider MK community.

I understand that repairs are to be insurance-funded, hence funds are available. So why is it all taking so long?

I hear that thecentre:mk wants the land for development and that this was raised years ago. Why has it not been resolved?

We have major public assets in question here, which the council is duty bound to maintain and which are well supported and used by the public.

If there is a compelling case for taking either the bridge or the market out of service, then let's please here it very soon and with transparency about funding.

Otherwise, please repair the bridge without delay and fully restore market function.'

Graham Benjamin
Horsefair Green, Stony Stratford

Third World England

SIR – I had to read your article 'Charity calls for help to maintain food parcels' twice as I couldn't quite believe what I was reading (MK NEWS, February 23).

We are the fourth richest country in the world.

We can, apparently, give our banks over £1trillion to stop them going bust and we allow them to pay themselves billions in bonuses, even when they make a loss.

We can, apparently, afford to spend £5billion a year on an unwinnable war in Afghanistan.

There is, therefore, plenty of money around.

Yet in Milton Keynes, and no doubt in many other parts of the country, we have an organisation called The Food Bank, which provides food parcels to our fellow citizens who are living in poverty and need this help to prevent them going to bed hungry.

Thank you to The Food Bank for providing this service – but what does this say about our priorities as a country to make such a service necessary?

There must be a better way.

Dave Brunwin
Stony Stratford

Openness needed

SIR – I would firstly like to agree with D Garrett from Stantonbury (Letters, MK NEWS, February 23).

I feel that there should be some more openness from our councillors. The allowance of £9,863 needs looking at.

It is all very well councillors such as Vanessa McPake saying 'I would be more than happy to take a reduction' (Councillors' allowances, MK NEWS, February 23). We need some straight talking from our councillors and people to act straight away. As the old saying goes, 'actions speak louder than words'.

After all, if the councillors really wanted a reduction they would take one.

I can see second home allowances all over again. For years MPs were claiming for a second home, then when the hard working taxpayers questioned them they all said what a rotten system it was, even though they were they ones with the power to look at and change the policy.

This is why I am standing for election on May 5 to try and make a real difference in Stantonbury and offer a straight talking councillor working hard for the residents.

Harvey Rainbow
UKIP council candidate for Stantonbury

Fairer votes

SIR – Milton Keynes is ready for and wants and needs change.

On May 5 we will all have the chance to choose a better way of selecting our MPs. A way that forces politicians to pay more attention to the needs and wishes of the people. A way that allows us to get rid of MPs that fail us more easily. A way that stops MPs getting elected without majority support.

On May 5 say Yes to Fairer Votes.

Alternative Vote differs from the current system in that rather than just marking an 'X' on the ballot you mark the candidates in order of preference.

As with the current system the first preferences are all counted up but a candidate is only elected if they receive more than 50 per cent of first preferences.

Otherwise the last placed candidate is removed and their votes are reallocated to their second preferences, and so on, until a candidate receives more than 50 per cent of the vote. Simple!

If you want a democracy that works for you then please get involved with the MK Yes to Fairer Votes Action Group.

We can be found on Facebook (www.facebook.com/MKYes2AV) and Twitter (www.twitter.com/MKYes2AV).

Standards probes cost taxpayers £10,000 a month

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

MORE than £10,000 a month has been spent investigating city councillors, MK NEWS can exclusively reveal.

Between July 2008 and October 2009, £184,827.83 of taxpayers' money was spent on investigating complaints made against councillors at Milton Keynes Council and five of the city's 45 town and parish councils.

This money, which includes legal services staff and internal investigation costs, is on top of the £25,581.30 spent on a recent investigation into whether one Milton Keynes councillor had called another a liar.

Of the 15 investigations held during the period, seven of them found the councillor was not in breach of their council's code of conduct. One of these included a councillor at Wolverton and Greenleys Town Council whose case cost £30,450.90.

The largest single spend was £33,374.84 on an investigation into a Campbell Park parish councillor.

'Complaints by councillors against each other should have been solved by banging a few heads together': Cllr Liz Campbell

Liz Campbell, who sits on both Milton Keynes Council and West Bletchley Council, was herself investigated.

She said: "The recent jail sentences handed to MPs convicted of making fraudulent expenses claims show us that serious misconduct in public office should always be investigated. However, it is important to note that none of the many complaints investigated by MK Council's standards regime involved fraud, corruption or criminal activity.

"For the most part, these were petty 'tit-for-tat' complaints by councillors against each other and they should have been solved by banging a few heads together rather than launching detailed investigations."

City MP Iain Stewart sits on the House of Commons committee scrutinising the Localism Bill, which proposes to abolish standards boards, and said they shouldn't be used for matters of debate.

But Chris Fogden, the independent chairman of Milton Keynes Councils' standards committee, said there needs to be something in place to deal with legitimate complaints.

He said: "It's the same in any disciplinary hearing, even the courts – you have a process where people can put a case forward.

"If it's abolished, every council in the land will have to think about how they deal with council code of conduct or behaviour complaints."

THIS is the moment football freestyler Daniel Cutting smashed the world record for running 100 metres will a ball balanced on the head. Daniel now hopes his time of 18.53 seconds, which beat the current record of 23.20 seconds and was recorded at half-time at MK Dons' game against Brighton on Saturday, will be officially recognised by the Guinness Book of World Records.

Pupils to appear in magistrates' court trial

THE city's magistrates' court will be packed this weekend, but not with the usual offenders.

More than 60 students from Milton Keynes and other Buckinghamshire schools will be competing in a mock trial competition on Saturday to prove they are the best young legal minds in the area.

Four hundred schools from across the UK are competing in the 17th annual Citizenship Foundation's Magistrates' Court Mock Trial Competition, in which teams of 12 to 14-year-olds will take on the roles of lawyers, witnesses, magistrates and court staff.

The Milton Keynes heat, one of 68 across the country, will include teams from Oakgrove and Ousedale schools.

Chris Row, Milton Keynes bench co-ordinator for Magistrates in the Community, which increases public awareness of the role of magistrates, said: "This gives the young people an idea of what happens in court and gives them a chance to practice playing the roles.

"It's a good educational exercise to learn about the law, which is part of the national curriculum."

This year's case deals with domestic violence and the students' performance will be judged by real magistrates and legal professionals.

Making a point: City residents tackle Ed Balls at Christ the Cornerstone Church

Ed Balls banks on people-set agenda

Shadow Chancellor in city to ask about residents' concerns

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

LABOUR Shadow Chancellor Ed Balls paid a visit to the city on Monday to find out what residents want from government.

The MP held a meeting at Christ the Cornerstone Church as part of a national initiative by the Labour Shadow Cabinet.

Those who attended represented a cross-section of Milton Keynes society and included students, business leaders, pensioners and councillors from different parties.

Separated into groups, the residents then discussed what their main issues and worries were with current politics.

Mr Balls said: "It's really important that we get out and let people do the talking – we like to let them set the agenda.

"They are in the driving seat and we are asking them about their concerns for the future. When we lost the election people were worried we weren't listening to their concerns."

People at the church raised issues such as university tuition fees, transport, voting age and fairer taxes.

One Stony Stratford resident talked about the town's library and how he felt people are ahead of politicians, with councillors and MPs 'staying on the fence' until the people force them to make a change.

Talking to MK NEWS, Mr Balls said that, at several similar events, people particularly wanted to know whether the Labour Party had 'the right solution to the future of the banking industry', and that the banks are playing their part in the country's economic recovery.

He added: "At the moment they are worried about where we are going, the cuts and public spending, but they don't know yet who has the answers."

Around 100 similar events are being held, with results being used to form future policies.

Murdered: Rachel Manning

£25k reward still on offer for Rachel Manning murder info

DETECTIVES are still appealing for information about the murder of Rachel Manning.

The body of the 19-year-old sales assistant was discovered on December 12, 2000 in undergrowth at Woburn Golf Club – two days after she failed to return home after a night out.

A post mortem revealed she had been strangled.

Last Thursday marked the second anniversary of detectives announcing a £25,000 reward for any information leading to the conviction of her killer.

At the time Rachel's parents, Paul and Liz from New Bradwell, described the unsolved case as 'an open wound'.

Mr Manning said: "We need to know who did this terrible thing to Rachel and why.

"Someone out there knows who did this and they don't deserve your protection."

Thames Valley Police reopened the investigation following the acquittal of Rachel's boyfriend, Barri White, at Luton Crown Court in December 2008, after he spent nearly six years in prison.

Two men from the Bletchley area arrested in connection with the incident are still on bail pending further investigation.

City status bid supporters make feelings known

SUPPORTERS of the city status bid are making their feelings known.

Following last week's MK NEWS article, residents have started e-mailing the council to say why they think Milton Keynes should become an official city.

One supporter, Margaret Bowker, wrote: "City status was made for us. Milton Keynes is of the right size to be a city and well situated between London and Birmingham, a city in all but name. It is world famous, a dynamic place with cultural soul and a young, tolerant, inclusive society. Milton Keynes has the potential to be a great city, benefiting not only its area, but also its country."

MILTON KEYNES COUNCIL

Parents and actavists collect signatures against nursery closures in Bletchley

Nursery document inaccurate – claim

Councillor calls in consultation

BY KIRSTEN RAWLINS

kirsten.rawlins@mk-news.co.uk

EVERY child attending a Milton Keynes Council-run day nursery costs more than £1,000 per year, according to the city's children's services boss.

The council is currently having to find £641,028 a year to keep open the city's eight nurseries.

Last month a consultation document was sent out by the council looking at the future of the nurseries and how money could be saved.

Cllr Rosemary Drewitt, who has responsibility for children's services, said: "There is an issue about fairness and equity. The figure is somewhere in excess of £1,000 per child per year.

"Of course I want to protect children's services, but I'd rather be honest with residents."

It is proposed that children and staff at Kingston Day Nursery, Playzone in Netherfield and The Rowans in Fullers Slade will be transferred to children's centres, while the Russell Street Day Nursery could merge with The Rowans.

Fledglings in Kents Hill, Little Chestnuts in Bletchley and Westcroft and Wolverton day nurseries may be closed, resulting in a loss of 137 childcare places, but savings of £216,374 a year.

However, the consultation document has been called-in by Councillor Nigel Long, who believes it is inaccurate.

He said: "It has to be based on accurate information. It is probably the worst written document I've ever seen. For example, it says there are enough places in the private sector to take the children at the closed nurseries, but there is no evidence for that.

"I also think there are other ways to save money, other than closing nurseries. For example, a high amount of the net cost to the council is paid to Mouchel, a private company which supplies items such as computers to nurseries. If they want to save money, maybe they should look at that."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Billy Harley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Bedford, Milton Keynes & Leighton Buzzard areas and Billy is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

COUNCIL CUTS

Feeling the pinch: 'My own salary for next year will be about eight per cent less than I could reasonably have expected to earn on my original contract' MK Council chief executive David Hill

Leader delivers a 'hard message'

Cec Tallack

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

MILTON Keynes Council has finally rubber stamped the biggest cuts in its history and will shed £27million from its budget in the next financial year.

Over the next four years, the council has to find savings of £71million – 34 per cent of its overall budget – and has to take out a large amount of that in 2011/12.

The final decision was made at 3am last Wednesday after a mammoth seven-and-a-half-hour meeting, which was attended by more than 100 people protesting cuts to library services, arts groups and more.

Council leader Cec Tallack opened the meeting and was derided and heckled from the public gallery as he announced the city would no longer be able to be so dependent on the public sector.

In his opening speech he said: "We are going to be a smaller organisation and that's a hard message.

"We need to protect services and protect people, so those services will have to be run in different ways."

He went on to say the more essential services had been protected, such as social care, though the cost of that care would rise 'to meet the financial target'.

It was also announced by finance councillor and deputy leader Sam Crooks that 299 council staff are currently scheduled for redundancy, with 'another 400 approximately' expected to lose their jobs over the coming years.

Twenty-seven senior council staff have recently signed contracts which will save £609,000, but during the meeting council chief executive David Hill was criticised by Anita de Klerk, from Milton Keynes Coalition of Resistance, for appearing on TV to defend his £155,000 a year salary.

Mr Hill has since responded, saying: "For my part, I very much welcome and acknowledge the responsible approach taken by the senior management at the council in relation to the senior pay review.

"My own salary for next year will be about eight per cent less than I could reasonably have expected to earn on my original contract, but that seems to me to strike an appropriate balance between the major demands of the job and the need to demonstrate that senior managers are taking a genuine share of the pain."

All three political parties agreed to establish a £1million, one-off Strategic Restructuring Fund (SRF), so voluntary organisations hit by the cuts have money available to help them through the first year, and to ensure front-line services can be developed on a sustainable basis.

COUNCIL CUTS

Where the axe will fall – or not

Libraries

STONY Stratford and Woburn Sands libraries have been given a stay of execution for another year.

Both will be funded for the next financial year using some of the one-off resources from the SRF, resulting in an additional cost of £69,000 to the council. A full and comprehensive review of the library services will be undertaken and alternatives to closing the libraries researched.

Several times at the meeting last week, the council and central Government were criticised for taking a slash-and-burn approach to savings, with Stony Stratford Town Council chairman Rob Gifford saying he couldn't understand why the libraries had been singled out.

He added: "Perhaps there's an argument for closure and merger, but that needs to take place after proper consultation."

Children and Young People's Services

MORE than £6million is being saved in this sector.

In particular the Connexions service, which provides advice and services to people aged 13 to 19, will be restructured to 'focus on the most vulnerable rather than being available to everyone' to save £1million.

Other savings include the removal of funding for the Extended Schools service, which offers children's and learning services outside normal school hours. Schools are now expected to be self-sufficient in this area.

There will be a reduced investment in family support and other social care projects, which are provided under contracts from the community and voluntary sector.

Environment and Transport

NEARLY £7million is being saved in these sectors.

Senior bus pass usage will be restricted to its statutory minimum, meaning they can only be used for off-peak journeys.

However, at the 11th hour the Labour group made an amendment to pledge £283,000 to fund subsidised travel for all under 19s, which was due to be scrapped under the original plans.

Grid road lighting will be switched off, except on junctions and roundabouts, and bus subsidies will be reduced where there is low take-up.

Others

A LOT of the savings for next year are being made in back-office functions, such as IT, cleaning and internal audits.

Savings of £1million will made from council staff car user mileage changes, waste recycling will be promoted and there will be an increase from corporate advertising. Costs for burials and cremations will rise.

Have your say on the cuts. E-mail editor@mk-news.co.uk or write to 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, MK15 0DU.

Community Wellbeing

AS WELL as libraries, this sector of council services covers grants paid to voluntary organisations and sports, arts and heritage groups.

There will be more than £3million of savings under this heading, including a five per cent reduction in grants paid to the voluntary sector.

An amendment was made by the Conservative group of councillors at the budget meeting to award an additional £3,116 to Milton Keynes City Orchestra, in order that it can raise around nine times that amount by match funding bodies such as Orchestras Live.

Some councillors questioned the 'cherry-picking' approach to funding which this seemed to suggest, though the Conservatives argued the orchestra presented a good business case.

Anna Denny, the orchestra general manager, said: "All of the arts and heritage organisations that are currently grant funded by the council had the opportunity to challenge the proposed cuts through a formal consultation process. Milton Keynes City Orchestra grasped the opportunity and was fortunate to quickly gain the support of Councillor Peter Geary.

"Council funding is a lifeline financially for our city orchestra, providing the leverage to enable us to achieve our core charitable objectives. For every £1 of support provided by the council in 2010-2011 the orchestra brought in a further £9 of inward investment in the form of wider grant income."

The council also pledged to enter 'a positive engagement' with all organisations to ensure the best possible use of grants is being made.

Code-cracker's papers secured

A memorial fund steps in and buys Alan Turing's work for Bletchley Park

BY KIRSTEN RAWLINS
kirsten.rawlins@mk-news.co.uk

SECOND World War papers used to crack the Germans' codes are now in the hands of Bletchley Park.

The documents belonging to the famous Bletchley Park code-breaker Alan Turing were secured in an auction on Thursday when the National Heritage Memorial Fund (NHMF) pledged a last-minute bid of £213,000.

Museum director, Simon Greenish, said: "We are delighted to have the collection at Bletchley Park, which is surely its most fitting home.

"There is not much of Turing's material and we now have 16 of his 18 papers here."

The documents first went under the hammer with a valuation of £300,000 to £500,000 at auctioneers Christies in November.

But despite an online campaign by IT journalist Gareth Halfacree, which raised £28,500 through public donations in just over a week, and Google donating $100,000 (£62,700) the reserve price wasn't reached.

However, media coverage, a mention in Parliament by city MP Iain Stewart, and public interest prompted the NHMF to step in.

Dame Jenny Abramsky, chairman of the NHMF, said: "The National Heritage Memorial Fund was set up in memory of those who have given their lives for the UK and this grant will now ensure that this extremely rare collection of Turing's work stands as a permanent memorial to the man and to all those who paid the ultimate price in service to this nation."

Peter Barron, director of external relations at Google, said: "Turing is a hero to many of us at Google for his pioneering work on algorithms and the development of computer science. We're delighted that this important collection will now be accessible to everyone visiting Bletchley Park."

Memory boxes help for grieving parents

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A MOTHER and father who lost their 23-month-old son are helping other grieving parents to overcome the loss of a child.

Daniel Estick died suddenly of septicaemia in March 2009 and at the time his parents, Claire and Ian, from Woburn Sands, wanted somewhere to keep the things they would use to remember him.

Claire said: "At the time we were looking for a memory box to put his special things in for us and our children, but it was really difficult to find one to personalise that wasn't for babies or older people.

"We would have really loved to have been presented with a box either at the hospital or by a bereavement councillor."

Since then they have set up the Daniel Estick Trust to help parents and other family members who have lost a loved one to keep hold of their precious memories.

The trust raises money to buy boxes which can be given on the death of a loved one, to be personalised and keep special items. There are hopes the boxes will eventually be available in hospitals and hospices across the country.

Claire added: "We donate the boxes to the bereavement service at Milton Keynes Hospital and whenever someone loses a child they are given to them.

"When they are given by the hospital, they put in information about helplines, support and advice services, tailor-made depending on what that child dies from.

"When you're in that situation you don't know what to do because you are so full of grief, so to have somewhere to put your memories to come back to months later is nice, after the nightmare of what has happened."

The boxes can also be used for other relatives who have died. Children's councillors at Willen Hospice currently take pictures of families together so the children can have something when their parents die.

Anti-bullying hero gets PM on board

Campaigner hopes Random Acts of Kindness will go nationwide

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

AN ANTI-BULLYING campaign that began in the city could spread across the nation after its creator met the Prime Minister.

Alex Holmes, 23, from Stony Stratford, began campaigning against bullies when he was at Kingsbrook School, Deanshanger, and since then his initiative has grown from strength to strength.

He is a three-times winner of the prestigious Diana Award, which honours young people for their community work.

His Random Acts of Kindness scheme, which encourages young people to perform good deeds in their area such as giving out free hugs, won an award for best publicity campaign by a youth group last year.

And last Tuesday it was brought to the attention of David Cameron when the two met in Downing Street to welcome the Prime Minister as a patron of the Diana Award, set up as a lasting legacy to Princess Diana's belief in the power of young people to change the world.

Alex Holmes shows Prime Minister David Cameron a Random Acts of Kindness T-shirt

Alex said he now hopes the two can work together to spread the scheme to the rest of the nation.

He said: "I really enjoyed speaking to him about what I thought of the Big Society and I think he was quite interested to hear that.

"He said it was all about individuals and people working together, so I told him about Random Acts of Kindness. I'm definitely going to work with him on it and hopefully we can get the campaign to go nationwide."

Alex added a lot of people at the event were interested in Random Acts of Kindness and one banker even bought a T-shirt for £350.

Chippie makes final ten of Masterchef

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

MILTON Keynes could soon have its very own Masterchef.

The BB1 cookery competition hit our screens again last month and the city is being represented in the final ten by 25-year-old self-employed carpenter James Perry.

The father-of-two from Great Linford has easily made it through the first three rounds and puts his success down to his love of food and his father's advice.

He said: "Masterchef is the most fantastic thing I've ever done, second to having my children.

"I've always cooked and had a passion for it.

"My dad said I should know how to change a tyre, decorate my house and how to cook. I used to stay behind at school and do the cookery club.

"My aunties were also good cooks, but no-one in my family cooks to the standard I aspire to."

In Thursday night's episode, James made it into the final ten with his dish of pan-fried scallops with baby spinach, crispy bacon and cider beurre blanc. Tonight he faces the daunting prospect of cooking in the middle of a field for 100 hungry Scotsmen.

He hopes his appearance on the show will open doors and enable him to start a career in food.

And to any budding chefs, he gave the following advice: "You need to study the books and practice.

"It's just about experimenting and trying things several times and most of all enjoying it because if you don't you'll never get anywhere."

To see how James fares, watch Masterchef tonight at 9pm.

Carpenter James Perry, from Great Linford, has reached the final ten in Masterchef

Bikers say farewell to popular 'Big Pete'

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

DOZENS of bikers and well-wishers turned out to say farewell to 'Big Pete' last week.

Riders of bikes and trikes joined the funeral procession on Thursday to pay their respects to the 'well-known, loved and respected' biker, musician and pagan druid Pete Wilkins.

They escorted his coffin from his home in Leadenhall to Crownhill Crematorium where a pagan ceremony was held.

Known across the city for his passion for bikes and his love of music, Pete would often be seen at festivals around the region either helping out backstage or playing his acoustic guitar.

Speaking before the funeral procession, his best friend Mick Jolly said: "Everyone knew him as the friendly giant. There wasn't a bad bone in his body, he never got cross and he would always help everybody out.

"He built trikes and you will probably see several of them here today."

Tributes flooded in to several Facebook groups set up in memory of the 52-year-old who suffered from heart disease and was found dead at his home on February 1. He leaves behind three daughters, a son and four grandchildren.

Pete Wilkins and his funeral cortege

Friend Matt Lane added: "For as long as I'd known him, he was an absolutely fantastic guy, it is a great loss.

"You would always see him at the bike rallies with his guitar, just playing anything with a decent beat and rhythm.

"He was well-known, loved and respected and he never had a bad word said about him."

Pete was a practising pagan druid and one of his self-penned poems was read at his funeral.

CALENDARGIRLCOMPETITION

'Sexy' Sue from Stony Stratford

THE search is on to discover Milton Keynes' very own Calendar Girls.

MK NEWS' exclusive competition with Milton Keynes Theatre has been launched by teaching assistant Sue Titchmarsh, 43, from Stony Stratford.

The mother-of-four said: "My husband has given me a lot of confidence over the years. I had an operation last year which left a horrendous scar, but he keeps telling me how sexy I look, and I've lost weight too.

"Life's too short, so I thought why not? Be more impulsive!"

If you want to join Sue for the chance to win a VIP trip to watch Calandar Girls and met the cast for drinks, as well as a spa day at Champneys Henlow, MK NEWS and the theatre have teamed up with Serenity Boudoir Photography (www.serenityboudoir.co.uk) to make it even easier for you to enter.

The company, which specialises in a variety of boudoir photography, is offering a limited number of entrants a free photo shoot at its CITY studio.

You will be given a short consultation and 30 minutes studio time with a professional photographer. You will also get to keep a copy of your professional photo.

To book an appointment call 01908 210359. Appointments will be offered on a first come first serve basis to competition entrants only and will only be available at specified times.

Vote for your favourite Calendar Girl at www.mk-news.co.uk. The closing date for all entries is Tuesday.

Andrew Waller, Julia Bradbury and Jo Miller are taking part in the London Marathon

A marathon effort for cancer sufferers

FOUR fundraisers from Milton Keynes will be putting on their running shoes to help people suffering from cancer.

Andrew Waller, Mark Lombardo, Julia Bradbury and Jo Miller will all be taking part in the Virgin London Marathon on April 17.

Andrew, 41, of Grange Farm, hopes to raise £1,500 for CHILDREN with LEUKAEMIA after his mother was diagnosed with the disease in 2009.

The online Tesco buying manager said: "My mum was diagnosed with leukaemia in 2009. She underwent a bone marrow transplant and is now in remission. If the money I raise helps to prevent another family from going through it then all the hours of training will be worth it."

Mark, 40, an IT technician from Newport Pagnell, will also be running the gruelling 26.2 miles in aid of CHILDREN with LEUKAEMIA, which helps youngsters affected by Britain's most common childhood cancer, and is hoping to raise £2,000.

Julia and Jo, both from Middleton, will be running for Breast Cancer Care, as Julia's cousin, Clare Rayner, suffers from secondary breast cancer. (Turn to page 24 to read more about Clare's story).

Julia said: "I'm not a sports person so this really seems like a scary thing to do.

"With everything that Clare's going through, we can't do anything to help her, or change what's happening, so we're going to raise money to show our support. We thought it was the perfect way to show how much we care.

"She truly amazes me. She's a young mum with this awful disease that she's going to live with forever. But it doesn't stop her fundraising."

Billboards pay off for cancer support

BY KIRSTEN RAWLINS
kirsten.rawlins@mk-news.co.uk

A CANCER sufferer from Milton Keynes has been successful in raising awareness of her illness.

As previously reported in MK NEWS, Clare Rayner, 35, of Pinkworthy, Furzton, appeared on billboard adverts across the nation last October calling on the Government to collect statistics on the number of people suffering from secondary breast cancer in the UK.

Now the Government has agreed to pilot collecting the statistics in 2011/12 as part of the Department of Health's new cancer strategy.

Clare, who has secondary breast cancer, said: "I was thrilled to hear that the Government has committed to collecting this data. This is a step on the way to ensuring that everyone with secondary breast cancer gets the best quality support they deserve.

"I hope that this announcement will also help to raise awareness of secondary breast cancer as a lot of people don't know that it exists."

Clare was diagnosed with breast cancer in 2002, which then spread to her liver and she was told she had incurable secondary breast cancer in 2009. She has been put on chemotherapy drugs, which she will have to take for the rest of her life.

Jane Hatfield, director of policy and research at Breast Cancer Care, said: "This is fantastic news for people living with secondary breast cancer like Clare who have been shamefully unaccounted for and as a result, have been failing to get the support they need."

Clare Rayner as she appeared on posters to publicise secondary breast cancer

Clare, who has two daughters, aged three and five, also held a fundraising evening at Voongs in Bletchley last Thursday where she raised more than £1,500 for Breast Cancer Care.

Her cousin, Julia Bradbury, is also running the Virgin London Marathon in April to raise money for the charity.

TREASURE HUNTERS ROADSHOW COMES TO MILTON KEYNES!

Visitors can cash in on gold, silver, coins, antiques and collectables or just about anything that is old.

By Bill Jones
Treasure Hunters Roadshow
STAFF WRITER

Clean out your attics, cupboards, closets and jewellery boxes, because the Roadshow is coming to Milton Keynes. Our Roadshow experts will be in town examining gold, silver, coins, antiques and collectibles, .

While the Roadshow will accept anything that's old, they will be focusing on gold, silver, pre-decimal coins, military items, vintage toys and trains, musical instruments, pocket and wrist watches, oil, watercolour and patel paintings, pottery, porcelain and glasswares

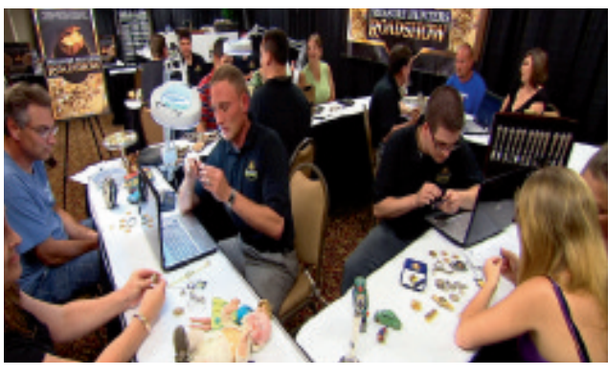
"U.K. coins made before 1971 are most sought after by collectors. Some coins made before 1947 are silver and valuable because of the silver content or could be worth even more if one happens to be a rare date."

At the roashow, we see some exceptional pieces of original paintings, artwork that has sat in storage, attics and basements alike. Treasure Hunters are proud to work on behalf of a number of worldwide collectors and galleries that re-display some amazing artworks to the public.

Scrap gold is expected to be a popular category this week due to soaring gold prices. Tish McCutcheon, a recent customer from Leicester, who we spoke to, attended a recent event and walked away with £412.87 from a little jewellery box with unwanted and broken jewellery, said "This is great, I had expected maybe £150 but to get over £400 for jewellery I never wear or was broken is amazing".

Other types of items Roadshow experts hope to see include old toys and train sets. Archie Davis, roadshow toy expert spoke about some of the top toys getting great offers. "Old tin windup toys from the late 1800's through the 1960's are in great demand now." said Davis, "Especially those that are character related. Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, the Flintstones or any character toys are sought". Basically any toys made before 1965 are wanted. Train sets made by Lionel, American Flyer, Marklin, Hornby and cars by Dinky and Matchbox have the potential to fetch high prices. Davis also stressed, "Toys with boxes and in mint condition bring sensational prices. Most of the toys that come to the Roadshow are not in perfect shape but can still bring good prices from collectors."

When expert Tom Fuller was asked what he enjoyed most about working at the Roadshow, he was quick to answer "Old coins and paper currency. For as long as I can remember I have been fascinated with collecting coins. Once, I found a silver crown that I sold for £300." Tom went on to explain that any U.K. coins made before 1971 are sought after by collectors and some coins made before 1947 are valuable because of the silver content or could be worth even more if one happens to be a rare date. "We help people sort through their coins for unique dates. We buy all types of coins at the Roadshow from halfpennies to crowns, which are valuable from one coin to an entire carload. See you at the roadshow" " said Tom.



Above • Come on out and have Tony Enright apraise your collectibles. These customers cashed in a large bag of broken and unwanted jewellery. They left with cheques totalling over £425.

If you go to the Roadshow, you can cash-in your items for top dollar. Roadshow representatives will be available to purchase your items at the Holiday Inn Express (M1/J14), East Lake Park, Tongwell Street, Fox Milne, MK15 0YA from Tuesday 8th through Saturday 12th March.

Football kit for Somaliland

A FOOTBALL club has collected unwanted kit to help players in Africa.

Last Tuesday, at the stadiummk, kits were presented to Sunday League team MK Dynamos, which has been working with MK Dons' Sports and Education Trust (SET) to help young players in Somaliland, many of whom have never owned a football shirt.

Coaches from MK Dynamo will hand out the kits and help players learn new skills when they visit Somaliland in August.

Mote Botan, manager at the club, said: "We are delighted to continue our partnership with SET and would like to thank all the teams and supporters who contributed.

"Somaliland is only a small country and greatly benefits from donations such as these."

The evening saw visits from the ambassador to Somaliland, Ahmed Omar, the owner of Horn Cable Television, Farham Ali, and the Somaliland community leader for West London, Ayan Ismail Abdi.

Dennis Woolford, MK Dons SET inclusion manager, said: "We are delighted to have worked with MK Dynamos to support the collection of used football kits to donate to Somaliland. We worked with the local clubs and MK Dynamos to collect unwanted kits in good condition which would otherwise be thrown away."

Other clubs, including Olney Town, Newport Pagnell Town, Leighton United, MK Wanderers, Loughton Youth, Wycombe Wanderers and MK Dons, have also donated unwanted football kits.

CALLING all recent mums and dads and parents-to-be, do you want to find out how real nappies can save you cash?

As we are all feeling the pinch, now is the time to consider using washable nappies, which are great for baby, your pocket and the environment.

Milton Keynes Council's recycling team is inviting anyone interested in learning more about the benefits of using real nappies to attend an information event on Thursday, March 10 between 7 and 8pm at the Materials Recycling Facility in Wolverton.

As well as the chance to get your hands on real nappies, there will be a discussion on the main benefits of using them, both in terms of cash and the environment.

There will also be a discussion on the four main types of nappies available, practical advice on getting started and how to use real nappies and tips on washing and drying.

So if you want to know where to get real nappies and how to buy the right product then this is the event for you.

The Materials Recycling Facility is in Colts Holm Road, Old Wolverton, Milton Keynes, MK12 5QD.

OAP leads fight for 'Alternative Vote'

BY KIRSTEN RAWLINS
kirsten.rawlins@mk-news.co.uk

A PENSIONER has been selected to lead a campaign in Milton Keynes for a new voting system.

John Pinkerton, 71, of Stantonbury Fields, will be raising awareness and rallying support for the Alternative Vote system in the run up to the referendum on May 5.

He said: "In elections, national or local, MPs and councillors win seats on minority votes. This is in no way a mandate – quite the opposite.

"I also want more choice. No one party can necessarily have all the best policies. Preference voting can help to give that choice and gain better representation across the whole of civil society.

"I have spent more than 40 years campaigning against First Past The Post. It has got to go and elections have to become real contests. The Alternative Vote will take an important step along that road."

Mr Pinkerton has been recognised by the national Yes to Fairer Votes campaign as one of 100 leading 'Faces for Change'. He will be running events and speaking to voters in preparation for the referendum.

Man of many parts: John Pinkerton, on the clarinet, will be running events and speaking to voters in preparation for the referendum on the Alternative Vote system

Katie Ghose is the national Yes to Fairer Votes campaign chairman.

She said: "We're delighted to have people like John at the heart of our movement.

"The stories of why people like John get involved are the real force behind the campaign. This isn't about party politics. This is about ordinary people showing why we've got to win on May 5."

Rotarians John Slater, Peter Kiddle and John Southby at the site where 5,000 purple crocuses should be blooming

Just where are our blooming crocuses?

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

IT WAS a case of hunt the crocus last week.

Last year, the Rotary Club of Milton Keynes planted 5,000 of the purple flowers outside Jurys Inn in Midsummer Boulevard in the hope they would all bloom in time for Rotary Awareness Day last Wednesday.

But despite thousands of spring buds now shooting up across they city, not a single purple crocus had made a debut.

The stunt was organised as part of Rotary Great Britain's Thanks for Life campaign, which is an effort to eradicate polio, a viral infectious disease, across the world.

Jan Lloyd, Rotary MK's Thanks for Life co-ordinator and former mayor, said: "The crocus is a symbol of eliminating polio because when the children have had the vaccine, they dip their finger in a purple dye. We'd like people to be aware of the issue when they see us out shaking our tins."

Club secretary John Southby added: "Polio is now only in four countries, we're talking about hundreds of cases, so it's just that last push now after a 30 year initiative."

Billionaire Microsoft owner Bill Gates has also recently supported the eradication of the disease by pledging money from his foundation.

Dons and Double Tree teams hit the heights

A TEAM will take on new heights to raise money for charity this summer.

The group representing MK Dons and Double Tree by Hilton will climb 5,985 metres to the top of Mount Kilimanjaro for Marie Curie Cancer Care and MK Dons Sport and Education Trust (SET).

A member of the team, Matt Cove, said: "After supporting the team who cycled from Land's End to John O'Groats last year, I felt like I should be doing something myself.

"I'm delighted to be taking part and fundraising for two very worthwhile charities."

Berni Winkelman, wife of MK Dons chairman Pete Winkelman, has been nominated as ambassador for the team, which will spend ten days climbing to the top of the highest mountain in Africa, starting on May 30.

She said: "In these times where it is becoming tougher for charities and community organisations to raise funds it is great to see people such as the seven-strong team we have here brave the elements and take on an amazing challenge such as this.

"Knowing how hard it is losing a family member to cancer I know first-hand how comforting the good work of Marie Curie Cancer Care can be and with the Sport and Education Trust carrying out work with real impact across fields of health, education, sports participation and social inclusion they make a perfect reason for people to support these worthy causes."

To take part in the challenge of a lifetime, the team must raise £21,500.

It is offering sponsorship packages for minimum donations of £250, £500 and £1,000, including exclusive offers such as match tickets, logo placements and dinner for two at the Pitchside Restaurant.

■ To donate to the team e-mail matt.cove@mkdonsset.com, call 01908 622906, or visit www.justgiving.com/DoubleTree KiliChallenge.

Get set for switchover

With just weeks to go until the first analogue TV signals are switched off in Milton Keynes, MK NEWS has teamed up with Digital UK to provide readers with this special guide to digital TV switchover.

What is switchover?

Digital TV switchover is the biggest change in television since the introduction of colour. Analogue signals are about to be switched off and replaced with new digital services.
This will make Freeview available for the first time to thousands of homes watching local 'relay' transmitters in areas such as Luton and Northampton.

Digital UK is the independent organisation set up by the broadcasters to lead the switchover. It provides an advice line and website to help with general questions about getting digital TV and preparing for the switchover.

Peter Monteith, Digital UK's Regional Manager for Anglia, says: "Switchover will change forever how television is broadcast. I'm delighted that, very soon, viewers who have previously been unable to get Freeview services will be able to do so for the first time. Most people are well prepared; but for those who still have questions, we are here to help."

How will switchover happen?

Switchover will happen in two stages. If you currently receive your TV signal through an aerial, in either analogue or digital format (e.g. Freeview, Top Up TV, BT Vision), you are probably served by the Sandy Heath transmitter group, which switches on the dates below. Televisions connected to a cable or satellite service are not affected.

Stage one – 30 March 2011:

In the early hours, analogue BBC Two will be switched off and replaced with a new digital signal. Local 'relay' TV transmitters will also start to broadcast the BBC's other digital channels for the first time.

Readers switching to digital for the first time via Freeview, Top Up TV or BT Vision will now be able to set up their equipment. Homes already watching these services should retune their digital boxes or IDTVs.

Stage two – 13 April 2011:

All remaining analogue channels will be switched off and replaced with additional digital services. Everyone watching Freeview, Top Up TV or BT Vision will need to retune their equipment again to receive all available channels.

On both dates, these changes will happen overnight. For most viewers, services will be restored by the morning. Households receiving their TV signal from local relay transmitters will receive new digital services later in the day and should tune in for the first time or retune from this point.

digitaluk.co.uk 08456 50 50 50 get set for digital

Dear reader,

There are now just a few weeks to go before most homes in Cambridgeshire, Northamptonshire and Bedfordshire start their switch to digital TV on 30 March.

For anyone who has Freeview services* or an old analogue TV there are two important stages to remember:

30 March – Switchover stage one:

The switchover begins. Analogue BBC Two will be switched off permanently and the higher powered BBC digital services will launch. All Freeview TVs and boxes will need to be re-tuned on or after this date.

13 April – Switchover stage two:

The remaining analogue channels will be switched off and the rest of the digital services launched. All Freeview TVs and boxes will need to be re-tuned again.

Your switchover dates depend on where you live. To check your dates, enter your postcode at digitaluk.co.uk or call 08456 50 50 50. Switchover makes Freeview available to virtually every home, including those that can't currently receive it, as it allows the digital signal to be strengthened and transmitted for the first time from the local relay transmitters.

Most homes will be able to receive more than 40 channels and some will receive around 15. It will also provide additional services such as audio description for viewers with disabilities. Any sets receiving satellite and cable TV will not be affected by this change.

If you have questions go to digitaluk.co.uk or call 08456 50 50 50.

Thank you,

Peter Monteith

Common questions

Where can I get face-to-face advice on switchover? Digital UK has been working closely with charities to organise local advice points during switchover. These will be staffed by trained volunteers and are open to everyone. There are also Digital UK roadshows in the region. To find out where your local advice point or roadshow will be, visit digitaluk.co.uk/angliaevents or call 08456 50 50 50.

What about my video recorder? After switchover, video and analogue DVD recorders will still play back and record, but you won't be able to record one channel while you watch another. If you want to continue doing this after switchover, the simplest way is to get a digital TV recorder. These also allow you to record a whole series at the touch of a button, and pause and rewind live TV.

Will I need a new aerial to receive Freeview? Most rooftop aerials will be fine after switchover but a small proportion of aerials are likely to need replacing to receive Freeview. Digital UK recommends that you wait until after switchover to see if your aerial needs replacing in order to avoid having unnecessary work carried out. You can check whether your existing aerial is likely to be suitable for receiving digital by visiting the aerial test page on teletext page 284.

If you receive television from the Sandy Heath main transmitter, you will need a wideband aerial to receive all the available Freeview channels after switchover. If your existing aerial is not wideband, you should still be able to receive the main public-service channels.

Where can I find a good aerial installer? Look for a Registered Digital Installer (RDI) with the 'digital tick' logo. Go to rdi-lb.tv/identify.html or call Digital UK on 08456 50 50 50 for more information. If you can't find an RDI locally, look for someone with Associate RDI or CAI Plus status – or ask your local electrical retailer.

What channels will I get? Which channels you receive will depend on which transmitter you receive your signal from. Viewers served by a local 'relay' transmitter will receive around 15 Freeview channels for the first time. These will include BBC One, BBC Two, ITV1, Channel 4 and Five, plus all the other channels from the BBC (those funded by the licence fee) and some other services from the public-service broadcasters.

Viewers served by a larger 'main' transmitter will receive these channels as well as some extra services from commercial broadcasters. These extra channels are also available via satellite. You can check which Freeview channels are available in your area by using the postcode checker at digitaluk.co.uk, or by calling 08456 50 50 50. This also gives you information about satellite and cable options in your area.

Getting digital TV

If you only receive five or fewer analogue channels through an aerial on any of your sets, you'll need to think about converting them for switchover – otherwise you risk being faced with a blank screen once analogue signals are switched off.

There are three main ways to go digital:

- Convert your existing analogue TV using a digital box (e.g. Freeview, Top Up TV or BT Vision).
- Have a digital TV service, such as satellite or cable TV, installed for you. Providers include Sky, freesat and Virgin Media.
- Buy a new TV with digital (Freeview or freesat) built in.

Remember, almost everyone will be able to watch Freeview after switchover – even homes currently out of coverage.

You can check the options for going digital in your area, and what channels will be available through your aerial, using the postcode checker at digitaluk.co.uk. Extra channels are available through other digital TV services, such as satellite or cable.

Virtually any TV set, including black and white ones and those without Scart sockets, can be converted using a digital box.

The Switchover Help Scheme

Thousands of people in the Anglia TV region have already taken up help from the Switchover Help Scheme. Run by the BBC under an agreement with the Government, it's an official scheme which makes switchover easy for older and disabled people by giving practical help to switch one TV in their home.

People are eligible for the Help Scheme if they are:

- aged 75 years or over;
- eligible for attendance or constant attendance allowance, or mobility supplement, or disability living allowance;
- registered blind or partially sighted;
  or have been living in a care home for six months or more.

If you're eligible, you will be offered equipment that's easy to use, delivery or installation and a demonstration of how to use it, together with a choice of options. We will also check your aerial and upgrade it where we can, if it's needed. There is a freephone number to call for help while you get used to things.

Most people will be asked to pay £40 towards the standard offer of help. For eligible people on income-related benefits, it's free. Eligible people can also choose from a range of other Help Scheme options, sometimes at a higher cost.

If you know an older or disabled person who might still need help to switch to digital TV, you could lend a helping hand and give them the message about the Switchover Help Scheme. Even if they have digital TV already, they can get help to switch another TV set in their home.

All you need to do to get the help is respond to the information pack which has been sent to every eligible person's home. But you must respond to get the help. The Help Scheme will close for applications in Anglia on 23 December 2011.

How to retune

Viewers watching Freeview, Top Up TV or BT Vision will need to a full retune their equipment at both stages of switchover in order to continue receiving services. You should retune from time to time in order to keep your Freeview box up to date. Sometimes channels move around – so if you should lose access to several channels, try retuning to restore them.

To do a full retune your Freeview, Top Up TV or BT Vision equipment, follow these steps (these instructions are a guide only – each product works slightly differently).

1. Switch on your digital box or digital television
2. Press 'menu' on the remote control
3. Select 'set up' or 'installation' option
4. Select 'first time installation' option (sometimes called 'factory reset', 'full retune' or 'default settings')
5. Press "OK" if your equipment asks if you want to delete all your channels - don't worry this is normal.
6. Channels will be automatically installed. This may take a few minutes, and your equipment may shut down and restart.

After a retune, if you are not receiving your preferred regional service, you are likely to find your preferred services further down the channel list. If you want to make your preferred services easier to find, you can either use the 'favourites' list or 'channel settings'. See your instruction manual for more details.

If you find you are missing some channels or your equipment has stopped working, visit digitaluk.co.uk/retuning for more information. If you can't fix it yourself, you might want to consult friends or family who could do it for you, or otherwise call out an installer (see 'Common questions').

To watch a short video showing you how to retune, and for specific re-tuning instructions for the most popular Freeview products, visit italuk.co.uk/retuning.

Retaurant's 'suit amnesty' will help at job interviews

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

WITH UK unemployment still high and the seemingly endless reports of job losses, one restaurant is playing its part in tackling the issue.

A 'suit amnesty' initiative has been launched by The Living Room until the end of the month and it is calling for people to donate their unwanted business wear.

Any suits donated to the restaurant, based in The Hub, will be given to the homeless, disadvantaged and long-term unemployed in Milton Keynes who cannot afford a new one for a job interview.

The company says that with charities and initiatives being hit hard for donations during the economic downturn, the Suit Amnesty is a way for people to help others without having to put their hand in their pocket.

Manager, Darren Traynor, said: "There are plenty of people from all kinds of backgrounds who don't have access to funds and are trying to get a job but want and need some help to get on the ladder.

"These suits will make a big difference.

The Living Room's operations manager Darren Traynor

"Owning a good suit is something most of us take for granted, so to get young and homeless people a step closer towards getting on the employment ladder is a great gift."

The scheme runs until March 31.

Bright sparks at Ember

EMBER pubs the Nut and Squirrel in Westcroft and the Ship Ashore at Willen, have launched Britain's first Cask Ale Menu.

Garage in top fifty

A GARAGE in the city could be named the nation's best for servicing and repairs.

Anglo-Continental Cars in Bletchley has been named in the UK's top 50 garages in the annual Golden Garages Competition, as voted for by motorists, and is now competing for the top spot, to be announced on April 4.

IT co's five-star status

Bletchley IT company ACS has received three-star recognition in the Best Companies Accreditation Awards, making it one of the UK's leading companies to work for.

Retailers rewarded after visits by 'mystery shoppers'

RETAILERS in the city have been rewarded for providing exceptional customer service.

Midsummer Place recognised Pret A Manger, Debenhams Restaurant, Caffe Italia and Housekeeper in its Mystery Shopper programme last Monday.

Manager at Debenhams Restaurant, Neil Ashcroft, said: "We're really pleased with the result. In an increasingly competitive market, customer service is very important and can often determine whether people come back. We put a lot of emphasis on customer service from recruitment to refresher courses to ensure the service is maintained."

Every aspect of the customer experience was considered by an independent company, including presentation, eye contact with the customer and cleanliness.

Martin Hindson, centre manager at Midsummer Place, said: "Overall results were positive given the average score has improved over 2009.

"I am delighted with the results but there is always room for improvement."

SIMON DARNELL

THE KING OF LIMBS
Radiohead (album)

WELL, this is a throwback to how albums used to be and no mistake.

By making the CD format work to the band's capabilities rather than the other way round, Radiohead have freed themselves from the expectation that just because a compact disc can hold 80 minutes of music, it automatically follows that it should.

The King Of Limbs has eight tracks and a running time of just 37 minutes; a far cry from the two-disc special editions that go on for hours just because some record industry idiot's decided that cramming a second disc full of songs that were previously considered too awful to make it on the album originally represents astounding value for money.

Yeah, fair enough, this album may have a shorter running time than some singles, but it's all about quality rather than quantity and by heck there's some quality here.

Any drummer can make it sound as though he and his drum kit are falling down the stairs of a building designed by M C Escher, but when Phil Selway does it he still manages to make it sound musical.

Let's be honest, if you've got him driving things along you really shouldn't cock things up, and they don't.

The general tone is downbeat and low-key, but not quite reaching the depths of doom and gloom. In fact, it's probably their warmest sounding album since Amnesiac (which, in my opinion, is one of the best albums ever made), although things do take a turn for the melancholic when Codex rears its head.

It's difficult for me to pick a favourite track, but part of the reason for that might be the running time.

There are no obvious singles and no fillers, so the whole thing can be run through in one sitting, just like albums used to be before the record labels started taking tracks off them and pressing them onto singles.

Because there's no reliance on a big hit single to announce the album (actually, there was barely any fanfare at all from the band) there isn't an outright best song, and on the other hand there isn't a single duff track either.

Just how an album ought to be, in other words. See, now that's proper value for money.

Imperial Ice Stars perform Swan Lake at MK Theatre

SWAN LAKE ON ICE

The Imperial Ice Stars
Tuesday-Saturday, March 8-12
SWAN Lake on Ice makes a welcome and much-anticipated return to MK Theatre next week with the Imperial Ice Stars.

Artistic director Tony Mercer spoke to MK NEWS about how it was a tough beginning for the show, as it's not what people might first expect.

"Everybody knows the story of Swan Lake from the ballet", he said. "But that particular one isn't the story that was intended by Mr Tchaikovsky, because it was created by a man called Mr Pettifer.

"The first choreographer was a boy called Ratinger, who altered the story, and Tchaikovsky let it happen because at the time he needed the money.

"When it first opened it was a disaster, so it was altered again by Pettifer, and that's the version that became standard.

"We have taken it back to how Tchaikovsky meant it to be - the white and black swans are usually done by one girl, but in Tchaikovsky's version that was never the intention, because two girls gives more clarity.

"The first time I saw it I was sitting in row ten and I could see it was the same girl, so I asked myself why the prince couldn't when he was only a foot away? It was the kind of illogical approach that I couldn't understand."

He said the musical score was also rearranged, which received a lot of critisism.

"When I brought the first version on in 2006 the critique didn't understand what I was trying to do.

"The music is set in the order that Tchaikovsky intended and it was strange when we first brought it out - boy were we attacked.

"When we opened in Australia, a review said I was even using music that wasn't Tchaikovsky.

"People had a preconceived misconception of what it should be."

But since then the show has grown in reputation and popularity and when it was last in Milton Keynes in 2007, the shows sold out.

BLETCHLEY PARK

THE National Museum of Computing (TNMOC) is giving the World Wide Web a glimpe of what it has to offer in a new video.

The museum, which plots the history of the computer, houses the largest collection of functional historic computers in Europe, including a rebuilt Colossus, the world's first electronic programmable computer.

A video made by TVUK now gives everyone the chance to have a ten-minute tour of TNMOC at Bletchley Park.

It shows the growing number of displays from the code-breaking Colossus, through the restoration of the Harwell-WITCH computer, the Elliot 803 and the ICL2966, to the home computing revolution in the PC gallery and the NPL Technology of the Internet gallery.

"This is not just a techie museum with machines in glass boxes. This is a working environment to show how machines worked, that's the essence of The National Museum of Computing," said Tony Sale, a trustee and director of the museum.

To watch the video go to www.youtube.com/watch?v=_Sw15F2QzMQ&feature=player_profile page and for those who want a closer look the museum is currently open on Thursdays and Saturdays from 1pm, and on Bank Holidays in spring and summer.

Guided tours are also available at 2.30pm on Tuesdays, Sundays and some other days.

Groups may visit at other times by arrangement and special organisation away-days can be booked. For further details go to www.tnmoc.org.

Turtle Bay: A calm atmosphere and friendly service

TURTLE BAY

5 Mortimer Square, The Hub, Central Milton Keynes. 01908 397888
Reviewed by Kirsten Rawlins

TURTLE Bay is the ultimate destination for those looking to get away from the hustle and bustle.

It is also ideal for those looking for a night out be it a family meal, a birthday celebration or simply an evening at the seemingly undiscovered rum bar.

I visited The Hub destination on a Friday night and, expecting to be pushed from pillar to post in the rush of a weekend evening, we were pleasantly surprised by the calm atmosphere and friendly service, which was excellent and matched the high standards of the food and cocktails.

My friend and I each enjoyed a cocktail which set the atmosphere perfectly before we tucked into the starters.

We shared a fish Beach Food Platter, which was splendid, a selection of Shrimp and Avocado Island Flat Breads, Stamp and Go (salt cod and callaloo fritters), West Indies Patties and Shrimp Rolls - a perfect start with a variety of flavours, spices and textures.

For mains, which were equally delicious, Turtle Dipped Steak cooked to choice, with a delicate marinade and herbs and Turtle Bay's greatest invention, sweet potato shoestrings.

My friend enjoyed the studded lamb - succulent, great texture and garlic and mint flavours.

Despite being incredibly full I opted for the BBQ Pineapple dessert, which was very sweet, but very nice.

My friend chose the Rum and Raisin Bread Pudding which got the ultimate sign of approval and disappeared in moments.

After the meal we decided to indulge in a glass of rum, after all it is a rum bar. With 33 different types of rum on the menu, the bar staff were happy to recommend a drink to suit. And they were certainly right as the tipple rounded off the evening perfectly.

GROTTO AT STOWE

Go back to Georgian times at the restored Grotto at Stowe

STOWE LANDSCAPE GARDENS

Sunday.

MEET Georgian visitors while discovering the latest edition to the restoration programme at Stowe Landscape Gardens on Sunday.

The recently restored Grotto will be officially opened for visitors to explore while looking around the gardens.

You will have the chance to meet a high society Georgian couple taking tea in the Grotto, just as the original family would have done 300 years ago.

There will also be poetry readings throughout the day highlighting the work of renowned Georgian poets such as Alexander Pope and James Thompson.

Milton Keynes-based Flauto flute quartet will also be playing music from the era from 11am until 12.30pm for the couple to listen to as they dine.

David Brooks, property manager for the National Trust at Stowe, said: "The Grotto really is a magical, secret place hidden away in the undergrowth.

"The restoration has used a rock known as 'tufa' to keep the look of a rustic cave. We have also reintroduced a statue of Venus surrounded by gently flowing water.

"Throughout the Grotto tiny pieces of mirror glass reflect the light. Altogether these create a beautiful atmosphere."

The Grotto is just one of many restoration projects that are currently underway, throughout the year new ones will be completed, including a new bridge and potentially the return of some long missing statues.

The gardens are open every Wednesday through to Sunday from 10.30am.

To find out more call 01280 822850, or visit www.nationaltrust.org.uk/stowegardens.

Furzton Lake

THIS exclusive detached property is set on a generous private plot in a highly sought-after area.

The property is finished to the absolute highest order and includes under floor heating, integrated Bang and Olufsen music system, a central butterfly staircase leading to a substantial galleried landing, two balconies and spectacular views across the lake.

The accommodation briefly comprises an impressive entrance hall with all the main reception rooms leading from it, lounge, dining room, kitchen/family room with granite surfaces, study and cloakroom.

Upstairs there are four double bedrooms, two ensuite and two with Jack and Jill bathrooms, and a family bathroom fitted with a high specification four-piece suite with a jacuzzi bath and corner shower cubicle.

Outside, the front entrance is accessible via electric, double-opening wrought iron gates with a pedestrian gated access to the side.

There is substantial block paved parking for around ten vehicles in front of the detached double garage with twin up-and-over doors.

The garden has landscaped borders with mature shrub and rockery borders.

At the rear is a low-maintenance garden with wooden decking patio area opening into a stone paved path system which leads to a stunning, circular, covered wooden barbecue and heated eight-man hot tub with a bar on the outside.

Eleven water features in the garden are fed by a main fountain with mature shrub borders and a wood panel fence surround.

Price £795,000. For more information, or to arrange a viewing, call Taylors Executive Homes on 01908 240981.

PRIORY COMMUNITY MIDDLE SCHOOL: PROPOSED DISCONTINUATION OF DYSLEXIA PROVISION

NOTICE IS GIVEN in accordance with section 19(1) of the Education and Inspections Act 2006 that Central Bedfordshire Council intends to make a prescribed alteration to Priory Community Middle School, Britain Street, Dunstable, Bedfordshire, LU5 4JA from 01 September 2011.

It is proposed that the current provision for pupils with Dyslexia at Priory Middle School, which presently caters for 3 pupils and from September 2011 will cater for 1 pupil, be discontinued. The remaining pupil will continue to be supported according to the pupil's assessed needs, and this arrangement will complete guarantees given by the legacy Council that pupils could continue in this provision.

Provision is made across all schools and the Council has offered training to both teachers and teaching assistants in the accredited Dyslexia training course available through the University of Northampton and delivered locally. This course is now funded by Central Government.

This Notice is an extract from the complete proposal. Copies of the complete proposal can be obtained from: Katie Rigg, Principal Assistant (School Places), Children's Services, Central Bedfordshire Council, High Street North, Dunstable, Beds, LU6 1LF, telephone 0300 300 5575. It can also be viewed on the website:

Company or lease car returns ...

Refurbishing your fleet vehicles can save you big time. The cost of repairs from Finishing Touch is a fraction of what you could very well end up paying in penalties for returning damaged vehicles to your leasing agent / fleet provider.
Our approach to fleet repair work is simple - restore vehicles to meet the guidelines laid out in your Fleet Wear and Tear documentation so you avoid penalty fees

F1nishing Touch - Crash repair centre in Milton Keynes, Bucks

Looking for affordable repairs to your vehicle in the Milton Keynes /Buckinghamshire region?
Want high-quality workmanship with quick and friendly service from the local team with more than 30 years' combined experience? Welcome to Finishing Touch ...

Need accident repair? Time to fix that scratch or rust before it turns to costly damage? Perhaps it's time for a change of colour with a full repaint / respray?

At Finishing Touch we use the latest technologies so your vehicle is back on the road quicker and costing less. We handle the full range - from bodywork repairs and panel-beating to SMART repairs of windscreen chips, bumper scuffs and paint scratches.

Our work is backed by manufacturer guarantees and your vehicle is fully-insured while in our care.

Our commitment to great service isn't just talk. Our collection / drop-off service and 24-hour accident roadside recovery means we literally go that extra mile (or few) to save you time and hassle. Not to mention fleet work for business vehicles that will save you a bundle compared to expensive leasing company fees.

MK Dons assistant manager JOHN GORMAN writes exclusively for MK NEWS every week

I'D LIKE to start by offering my condolences to the family of Dean Richards who sadly passed away at the weekend aged only 36.

It was a sad day on Saturday when I got the call about him.

It was a big shock to me and an even bigger one to his family, I'm sure.

We in football are devastated because he was a lovely man.

I coached him at Southampton and was lucky enough to know him very well. Then we signed him at Tottenham but unfortunately he got this illness and I don't even know the whole story yet.

He was somebody who served football so well - he was a legend at Wolves, Bradford and Southampton. He could have been at Tottenham as well but it never materialised because of the illness.

His funeral is on Friday at Bradford Cathedral and I hope there is a big turnout.

Of course, on Saturday we also put in a good all round performance and we totally deserved the victory against Brighton. It was especially pleasing considering we went down to ten men again, which has happened on a few occasions of late but neither myself or the gaffer could argue with Sean O'Hanlon's dismissal.

Brighton are a good side and that's what made it an even sweeter win, but the football we played is what myself, Karl, the rest of the staff and the players believe in.

We were laughing about Daniel Powell's goal on the sidelines because we've been on about him just heading the ball, never mind scoring with his head, but we pressed them from the front, the defence was outstanding and David Martin, when called upon, made a couple of great saves. I'd like to give a little credit to his goalkeeping coach Paul Heald who works tirelessly with the keepers.

Also, Brighton didn't really have a good chance once Sean was sent off. We looked hard to beat, got another clean sheet and that will set us up for the six home and six away games that we've got left in the season.

Brighton's Marcos Painter appears to trip Rowan Vine in the box – the Cowshed's demands for a penalty were denied

Brighton rocked by 10-man Dons

MK Dons 1 Brighton 0

BY MICHAEL WHITBREAD

MK DONS recorded a hard-fought victory over table toppers Brighton on Saturday.

Daniel Powell's 27th minute strike was all that separated the teams as he helped his side claim a vital three points, despite being reduced to ten men for the last 20 minutes.

Having extended his loan deal Keanu Marsh-Brown started brightly and came close to grabbing the opening goal when the winger beat two Brighton defenders, cut inside and shot only for keeper, Casper Ankergren, to parry away.

The loanee tested the Brighton goalkeeper again moments later when he hit a first time shot from the edge of the box which was smartly tipped over.

Brighton were under huge pressure from the home side but looked to apply some of their own when Inigo Calderon's cross was met by Ashley Barnes who pulled the ball back across the box to Chris Wood, but the Kiwi missed what should have been an easy tap in.

With both teams having been praised for their footballing ability this season, the Dons opened the scoring in scrappy fashion.

Desperate Brighton defending had managed to block a series of attempts on goal before the ball was played in by Peter Leven.

His cross was met by Sean O'Hanlon whose header rebounded off the post before Powell followed up to deservedly put his team ahead.

The second-half started controversially as the Brighton players surrounded the referee after O'Hanlon appeared to bring down a Brighton player off the ball.

The Seagulls felt that the defender should have been awarded a second yellow card for the offence and although the referee, Carl Boyeson, awarded the free-kick no card was issued.

Boyeson become the centre of attention again as he turned down a Dons penalty appeal when Marcos Painter appeared to trip Rowan Vine in the box but despite the cries of the Cowshed he failed to point to the spot.

O'Hanlon, who had been lucky not to be sent off earlier in the game, received a second yellow card when his mistimed tackle on Glenn Murray lead to his marching orders.

The home side were forced to make substitutions in order to cover for the dismissed O'Hanlon and Jabo Ibehre entered the fray in an attempt to hold the ball upfield for the remaining 20 minutes.

Brighton's onslaught came soon after as the visitors pumped balls into the box to test the ten men of the Dons.

However, their efforts were in vain as Mathias Kouo-Doumbe and Gary Mackenzie held firm to see the game out.

DONS will have a chance to steal a march on some of their closest play off contenders this week with the first of two important promotion six pointers.

The team faces a tough away trip to Rochdale on Saturday, a team which is seven points and three places below them in the table, but has four games in hand.

The first meeting between the sides this season ended 1-1, with the Dons dropping their first home points of the season.

A VITAL game against the Addicks could determine both teams' promotion push.

Charlton's away form has been consistant having won five, lost five and drawn five with a plus five goal difference on away matches.

Dons suffered a disappointing 1-0 defeat to the London side in September.

Following last week's win against table-toppers Brighton, Dons will fancy their chances. You never know this could be a five goal thriller.

Olney under fire, but Bletchley's winning ways continue

South West 1 East

Olney 15
Witney 23

LOOKING for another home win, Olney were still expecting tough competition from Witney's strong pack, and were under fire immediately when the visitors scored two tries in the first ten minutes, one of which was converted.

The first-half continued in the same vain with Witney dictating play and keeping Olney pinned back, but with the home side holding strong to go in 3-15 at the break.

Olney looked more fired up after the restart, and matters were helped when Witney lost their fly half to a yellow card for a dangerous tackle.

The team scored and continued to push, scoring a penalty try close to the end, but failed to capitalise further.

Olney travel away to High Wycombe this Saturday for a double header, with their league game and the semi-final of the Bucks Cup being played for.

Bletchley 23
Swanage and Wareham 17

AFTER last week's away win against Witney, Bletchley were determined to carry on a winning approach against a team much higher in the league.

For the first 20 minutes of the game, Bletchley were entrenched behind the Swanage 22 line, but due to the visitors' good defending, Bletchley could not convert territorial advantage to points.

Swanage then started to show some domination in the forwards, setting up good driving mauls which put pressure on the home side. From one of these, Swanage broke away to score under the Bletchley posts.

Bletchley fought back, until the game had to be stopped for 30 minutes while scrum-half Cuan McKenzie received medical attention, before he was taken to hospital where it was found he had displaced some cartilage between his ribs.

The home side sprinted out of the blocks in the second-half, scoring a try out wide with some quick handling through the backs.

They scored once more and held off a spirited final fight back from Swanage.

Lions play-off place recedes

Worcester Wolves 99 MK Lions 95

WORCESTER Wolves kept themselves in touch with the play-off places by holding off MK Lions 99-95 at home.

Visiting Lions made an excellent start to go into a 4-12 lead but Wolves were quick to counter a 13-2 burst putting them into a 17-14 lead. Nothing could separate the teams for the rest of the quarter and Worcester held a 22-21 advantage after ten minutes.

Wolves hit the last five points of the first-half to lead 55-46 at the break and despite Lions trimming the gap to four midway through the third they were ahead by double digits (81-71) heading into the final stanza.

It was nip and tuck in the fourth as, despite losing Shawn Myers to five fouls, the Lions had battled back.

After Yorick Williams was fouled making a three the veteran swingman cut the gap to three with 21 seconds remaining but Wolves held out.

MK Lions 88 Worthing Thunder 95

THIS was only the second League victory of the season for the Thunder.

A 12-2 run from the visitors midway through the first period took the score out to 6-16, but the Lions got to within four points at 20-24 at the end of the opening.

In the second period a Stefan Gill three-pointer gave the home side the lead at 32-31, but an 18-2 burst for the visitors took the score out to 34-49 and Thunder maintained that 15 point advantage, leading 36-51 at the half.

In the second-half, an 8-0 run from the Lions trimmed the deficit to just four points at 51-55 midway through the third period.

The visitors then took control of the game and they enjoyed a 16 point lead with under three minutes remaining in the fourth period and the South Coast outfit took the points.

■ This week the Lions travel to Wolves again on Friday and entertain Sheffield Sharks at 5pm on Sunday at Winterhill.

Lightning suffer

IT HAS been a miserable week for MK Lightning as they suffered three defeats in just for days.

MK Lightning 3 Slough Jets 5

SLOUGH Jets downed Lightning for the fourth time this season, despite Ross Green getting the first league goal.

Jets equalised within 31 seconds of the beginning of the second period before Leigh Jamieson fired the home team ahead only for Slough to level a minute later.

When the Jets took the lead Lightning were left chasing the game and two more goals in the first five minutes of the third period sealed Lighnings fate, before Lukas Zatopek picked up a consolation.

TO BORROW the title of an old Eagles song it was 'One of Those Nights' as Lightning went down 2-1 to old rivals, Peterborough.

Jeff Glowa pounced with the first minute to give the visitors the lead and from then on Lightning were facing an uphill battle against an in form goalie and a well drilled defensive unit.

In the second period Lightning outshot Peterborough 21-2 but still had nothing to show for their efforts.

Phantoms stepped up their offensive efforts in the final period. The visitors grabbed a second goal before Blaz Emersic finally defeated the stubborn visitors defence with under two minutes remaining.

With 42 seconds to go Lightning believed they had the equaliser as Jamieson crashed through and shot only for the referee to rule that the puck had not crossed the line.

Slough Jets 5 MK Lightning 3

BOGEY team Slough Jets inflicked this seasons fifth defeat over Lightning with a repeat of Thursday's result.

Jets former Coventry sniper Adam Calder bagged a hat-trick after Slough got off to a great start with a Joe Greener goal within two minutes.

Lightning hit back when Nick Poole equalised in the seventh minute but the Jets edged back in front through Calder to lead at the end of the first period.

Calder stretched the lead with a further strike during the second only for Lukas Zatopek to give Lightning hope with a powerplay goal to make it 3-2 at the break.

When Monir Kalgoum levelled it looked as though Lightning were in with a chance of getting something from the game.

But they hadn't reckoned with Calder who registered his hat-trick in the final minute only for Doug Sheppard to score into an empty net with 12 seconds to go.

■ MK Lightning visit Peterborough Phantoms tonight and Swindon Wildcats on Saturday before hosting the Wildcats at the Thunderdome on Sunday at 5.30pm.

Badminton stars gather in advance of All England Championships

ENGLAND'S brightest stars returned to the home of badminton last week ahead of one of this year's biggest tournaments.

The Yonex All England Championships in Birmingham start on Tuesday.

All of England's competitors visited the National Badminton Centre in Loughton Lodge last Wednesday to give their take on next week's tournament, and their chances of competing at the London 2012 Olympics.

Popular mixed-doubles pair Nathan Robertson, 33, and Jenny Wallwork, 24, are unseeded for the first time in several years. They now face a tough opening round against the competition's seventh seeds, Indonesians Ahmad and Natsir.

Robertson said: "We have got a pair in the first round who we know are beatable, and the Polish pair who we might have in the second round are number four but we beat them last time.

"There's no-one we are really worried about playing, so the possibility to win is there."

From All England, the duo hope they can kick on and reach the all-important Olympics.

Wallwork said: "Every tournament is a stepping stone that we need to do our best in. The qualifying starts in May and it's about us doing the best we can and anything can happen from there."

Robertson, who with former partner Gail Emms lost out on a medal at the quarter-final stage in 2008, added: "You're bound to get some huge home performances and I think we'll exceed medal expectations as Team GB anyway. A British pair on home soil – no-one will want to come up against us."

Champ Poulter's Cinking feeling

DEFENDING champion Ian Poulter dropped down to 13th in the world rankings after his defeat to Stewart Cink on the opening day of the WGC-Accenture Match Play in Tucson.

Poulter was two up with four holes to play. But Cink bounced back with a birdie at the drivable par-4 15th and a Poulter bogey at the 17th squared the match. At the 18th hole, Poulter just missed on a 16-foot birdie putt to win the match. Cink then won the 19th hole when his approach shot landed inside of four feet. "I don't know that there's a tougher match play opponent in the field than Ian Poulter," Cink said. "This is a big win for me."

The Woburn Golf Club professional, Poulter, said: "I really should have shut the match out, to be honest with you. Every credit to him. He holed putts at the right time and that's what you have to do in this format."

Former world number one Woods was also another big name first day casualty as he was dumped out on the first extra hole by Dane Thomas Bjorn.

Englishman Luke Donald went on to beat world number one Martin Kaymer in the final on Sunday.

That's entertainment

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
sport@LSNmedia.co.uk

SATURDAY'S win over league leaders Brighton will make promotion rivals sit up and take notice, that's according to Dons manager, Karl Robinson.

With six home and six away games left, the weekend's victory kept them in the play-off shake-up.

But it was the manner in which the Dons side, reduced to ten men for the last third of the match, brought about only the fifth defeat of the season for the Seagulls.

"Everyone knows how good we are as a football team," said Robinson. "There's no arrogance in that. We are not saying we are the best team in the league, but what we have said is that we'd like to be the best footballing team. I believe that these lads are paid to play and entertain. It's certainly what they're doing at the moment. I don't think there will be too many fans with too many complaints.

"Everyone is aware of the philosophy and quality that we've got, but what other teams will be more fearful of is we've brought in Keanu Marsh-Brown and Rowan Vine in the transfer window - two talented players that have added to us.

"Teams have become more aware of our strength and depth at the moment. On Saturday, we brought on [substitutes] Sam Baldock, Jabo Ibehre and Stephen Hughes and there are not many clubs who have the luxury of bringing on players who are quite feared throughout the league.

"Clubs will know we're serious but we'll just keep the smiles on our faces until the end of the season. If we keep doing things the right way, we'll get to where we want to be eventually."

Dons travel to Rochdale on Saturday with Robinson admitting they are quietly confident of getting a result.

"Confidence is very high but we've got to make sure that we don't become complacent," he said.

On Dons' next opponents the manager said: "They are hard working, honest and have some good footballers as well. They score goals from all over the park, so we'll have to be on our A-game to match them physically, but at the same time not lose our own philosophy in playing the right way."
